

The Montauk train approaching Patchogue Station, October 23, 1976, This type railroad car was used from 1960 to the end of the century.

Railroad platform under construction. This new type platform was needed to accommodate the new diesel – electric trains coming into service.