

Charles Howell's store at 35 South Ocean Avenue specialized in men's furnishings. The picture of this store in the Mills building was taken in 1904.

Charles Odell's store, 467 South Ocean Avenue, sold staple and fancy groceries, foreign and domestic fruits and specialized in butter and eggs. This picture was taken in the early 1900's.

The Algonquin Restaurant, on the northeast corner of South Ocean Avenue and Smith Street, was photographed in 1926. Today this building is an apartment house.

The Algonquin, 561 S. Ocean Ave. Patchogue, L. I., N. Y.
Phone 1726 M. T. Quinn, Man