

Increased traffic called for an improvement of roads leading into the business district from the north. Medford Avenue and Waverly Avenue were the two roads best suited for improvements. This is an aerial view of Medford Avenue, running from the bottom to the top in the middle of the picture. Sunrise Highway can be seen on the top of the picture and East Main Street on the bottom. The upper part of Medford Avenue has been widened already at this time, showing up in a lighter color of the roadway. This is a Jim Mooney Eagle Eye photo, dated March 8, 1964.

Medford Avenue in 1963, still a tree lined two lane road. This picture was taken from Main Street, looking north.
