

The St. Francis Parochial School, on South Ocean Avenue bordered on the south side of the Patchogue High School. A large fire May 24, 1951 heavily damaged the building. Today it is the administration building of the Patchogue – Medford School District.

The new St. Francis de Sales Elementary School on Division Avenue, opposite the railroad station, opened its doors to the first students in 1960. Today this school is the catholic Holy Angels Regional School.

The St. Francis de Sales Church built this combination auditorium / gym building on the southwest corner of South Ocean Avenue and Division Street in 1952.