

The officials of the Village of Patchogue in the year 1898.

The library on Lake Street was built in 1907 with a $15,000 grant from Andrew Carnegie. Edwin Bailey donated the building lot and John Van Pelt was the architect for the building. A New York company constructed the library. The library opened March 8, 1908.