

On May 14, 1892 the cornerstone was laid for the new Congregational Church on East Main Street, which is shown on this picture. The dedication of the church took place exactly one year later, on May 14, 1893.

This is the new Congregational church in the year 1904. The cost of the building was $46,815. The seating capacity of the church is seven hundred people. The front of the building was decorated in rock face brownstone from New Jersey.

The interior of the Congregational church. The picture was taken in 1904.